

Submission of student work to the IB Organization

Students produce materials in a variety of forms during the course of their schoolwork. These materials include all forms of written work, audio and visual materials and, in certain cases, materials containing images of the students. From time to time, the IB Organization may ask schools for samples of these materials to use for educational, training, commercial and/or promotional purposes relating to the IB Organization's activities, or to those related activities of which it approves.

We are asking that you complete and return the form below indicating whether you agree to your child's materials being submitted to the IB Organization from time to time for reasons indicated above. By providing written consent to schools, you are granting the IB Organization a non-exclusive, charge-free, worldwide license to reproduce submitted materials.

Where the IB Organization uses these materials for purposes other than assessment, it may modify, translate or otherwise change them to meet particular needs and, in most cases, students' names will be left off materials. If the purpose of publicizing materials is to portray work of a high standard, then the student and school may be identified. In this case, the IB Organization will inform the school prior to publication and the school will inform the student.

- I give permission for any materials produced by my child to be submitted to the IB Organization. These may include written work, audio and visual materials; some may contain images.
  - I do not give permission for any materials produced by my child to be submitted to the IB Organization.
